Drying Herbs for Future Use.
Herbs that are to be preserved should be collected as soon as they begin to flower and on a dry day after the dew and moisture deposited on them have evaporated. It is better to dry them in the shade, in a situation where they are in a current of dry air, rather than in a heated room or by direct exposure to the rays of the sun. In the latter case they will lose much of their green color, which will affect them unfavorably if intended for sale, and, while they should be dried quickly to preserve their aromatic qualities, it should be done in such a way as to retain their color as well. The same rule will apply to roots, which should be thoroughly washed before drying. As soon as properly dried both plants and roots should be packed away in boxes or otherwise so as to exclude them from the air and preserve their valuable properties, whether aromatic or medicinal.

For home use the cheap paper bags now so common answer the purpose well. These should be marked with the name of the variety, and be hung up or laid away in a dry place until wanted. Quite a number of plants that might be gathered and preserved for their medicinal qualities against a time of need. This is something that should not be neglected, otherwise they will be quite wanted at a season when they cannot be gathered, and besides this they are better for use when dried than when green. The leaves of the well known savory herbs can usually be sold to butchers and grocers so as to pay quite well for raising and curing them.

Things That Are Told.
Says Mark Lane Express: "We are personally opposed to the practice of dehorning, unless carried out while the animal is very young. It may then be done with no evil effects, as the young cerebroence is easily removed. This operation does not cause much suffering though it may be followed by a considerable show of blood."

L. H. Bailey, Cornell University, says: "There are three requisites to longevity of dwarf pears and to success in their cultivation: (1) Perfect union with the quince. (2) systematic heading in. (3) good care always. Varieties which unite permanently with the quince are few. Angleme is best and Anjou is excellent."

If the hen lays soft shelled eggs, if she lays extraordinarily large eggs, if she doesn't lay at all, our word for it she is too fat, says Germantown Telegraph. When she is in a prime condition she will lay regularly and properly shaped eggs. Study your birds. Some fatten quicker than others; yours may be of that breed. The Brahma fowl will become overfat on food that will put the Langshan in good condition.

For vegetables in sandy soil a Massachusetts garden says he finds nothing better than bonemeal and phosphate.

THE FALL FAIR.

It is not much over a month now until the Calgary Agricultural show will be due to open. Probably there never has been a time in the short history of this new agricultural country or any other new country when it was as important for the farmers to make a united effort to give an exhibit of the produce of the country, which will fairly and squarely represent the capabilities of the country for the production, especially of cereals. Certain things are now pretty generally admitted about this country by all who know anything at all of its character. Few who have read or heard of us will deny now that it is the best grazing country in the world; the rich quality of the grass being beyond dispute, that it is abundant and cures perfectly on the stock, remaining sappy and nutritious all winter cannot be denied. There is pure water everywhere and the climate temperate is now known to very many abroad. These facts being generally recognized there remains no doubt of this being a country well adapted for the production of butter and cheese, but on the question of grain crops most people who visit us are sceptical. This disbelief is not the result of anything existing in the country, but is the result of persistent lying by those interested in other parts of the world. Scores of the sturdy, intelligent farmers of Ontario and Quebec got the cobwebs brushed from their eyes when they visited the country in June and were shown the grain grown last year and the growing crop of this year. But there are still thousands of our own people in Canada who have but little idea of this rich agricultural country. The C. P. R. company are going to send an excursion train to Calgary, leaving all points on the C. P. R. and Grand Trunk and several smaller railways in the east on the 24th of September. This will bring the excursionists here about the 1st of October, their tickets being good for 40 days from start to finish. They will have plenty of time to visit and get back here for our agricultural show on the 9th and 10th of October. Providence has favored Calgary this year, not above other years by any means, but above other places. It is the bounden duty and interest of every farmer to let the world know what is being done and what can be done in crops about Calgary. Every man who owns a foot of land anywhere in the district is interested in having the country filled up by an industrious class of farmers. The present owners will have the value of their land doubled and quadrupled by having the country settled up. Now is the golden opportunity to publish to people from abroad the bounteous blessing providence has bestowed on this country.

The Agricultural Society are taking pains to give every facility to farmers to make a good display of their products. To members of the society there is no entrance fee they can exhibit everything proper to show without cost. It will be untold wealth to the country and particularly to the farmers, if they get up such a manifest of their products as they can do with no cash outlay and but little trouble. The magnificent wheat, oats, barley, roots, &c., which the farmers have been blessed with year will open the wondering eyes of eastern sceptics. By no means forget the butter and cheese for which this country is peculiarly adapted. To the ladies we take the liberty of saying, you did well in flora and fine arts last year, let this year be better, let your department show to those who may be thinking of casting in their lot with us, that this is not a "wild woolly west," but that culture refined exist here in equal proportions with any part of the civilized world.

Electric Light Meeting.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

The meeting convened by the Mayor on requisition of a large number of ratepayers in the Fire Hall last night, was a large and representative one. His Worship Mayor Marsh presided and the city clerk, Mr. E. P. Davis, acted as secretary. The Mayor read the requisition on which he had called the meeting. He then read a statement showing what had been done by the Council in the matter of P. A. Prince's request for the privilege of putting up poles, at the various meetings of the Council from the 27th of June when the matter was first brought before the Council in a formal manner, down to the present. He gave a statement of the theories brought forward by those opposed to allowing Mr. Prince to go on, both in regard to the pole nuisance and the dangerous character of the alternating system proposed by the new company. The Mayor read copious extracts from several papers, showing the result of experiments and investigations made in New York as to the power of electricity to destroy life, also showing that the State of New York had abandoned the use of electricity as a means for the execution of criminals, because of its inefficiency, and that, 1000 to 1,500 bolts had passed through a human body without producing death. He read also from the "Chicago Times" of 11th August to prove that the number of deaths of those who were struck by lightning were but few, that in most cases it resulted in a state of coma, which only lasted for a limited period, according to the intensity of the shock. The Mayor gave his view of the impracticability of putting all the poles on the lanes, especially as there were only three lanes north of the track and two south of it. He then called upon the members of the Council who voted against introducing the by-law at last meeting, to explain. Mr. Murdoch was not present when first called on, and Messrs. King and Bannerman said they were entitled to first hear their accusers.

Mr. Costigan then as one of the signers of the requisition to the Mayor to call the meeting, spoke at some length. He pointed out that these councillors had not been asked by the motion of the Mayor and Councillor Orr to pass the by-law, but to allow it to be introduced for discussion, and that under the circumstances it would not have been passed that night. He thought they should explain why they would not allow the introduction of the by-law.

Mr. Reilly said he too was a signer of the requisition. He understood that the Mayor had been boycotted at the last meeting of the Council on the electric light question. That the row the school trustees had made was nothing to the electric light fuss. When the Mayor could not get any one to move in the matter at last meeting, he felt like calling on Councillor Orr to sing the doxology or Councillor Murdoch to say the Lord's prayer. We elected these gentlemen last January to represent us and do the best they could for the interests of the town, and I as a large consumer of light, think they should be willing to explain their action at last Council meeting, in not allowing this important matter to come up for discussion. He thought it was too much for a little five-year-old town to be putting on more airs than the great cities of the Continent, in the matter of poles on the streets. The right to put up poles was being granted every day in cities where there are hundreds of thousands of people.

Mr. Loughheed reviewed the case from the beginning and said that the resolution of Orr and Fitzgerald passed at the last regular meeting to have the clerk prepare a by-law and agreement had been supported by Councillor Bannerman. The speaker stated that Mr. Prince was supported by very large capitalists, Mr. Prince himself was a man of substance, and that it was not through any objection on the part of Mr. Prince's associates. Their names did not appear in the agreement, as he, Mr. Loughheed, had advised that it would be more convenient to have only the one name. The speaker reviewed the matter fully, saying that Mr. Prince was not asking any monopoly, etc., etc. This and the other speeches being quite beyond the limit of our space to publish.

Councillors King and Bannerman disclaimed any wish to block the movement. They both said they wanted the best and the cheapest light that could be got, but wanted to know that the light would not be dangerous to life. They both repeated the objections they had taken in Council.

Mr. King said an expert would be here in a few days and he thought it would be well to wait till he could be heard on the danger question.

Councillor Murdoch, after making some reference to the old times in 1883 and '84, when we were not incorporated and the legislation of the town was run by public meetings and telling how some monopolies were crushed out in those days, after they had almost got through parliament, He said he always had been and now is opposed to monopolies.

A voice, (you are supporting the old old monopoly by not allowing competition.)

Mr. Murdoch moved for 10 minutes with his address, giving a detail of the whole matter since it came before the Council. He read extracts from the Herald and Tribune and closed by saying he was not opposed to Mr. Prince's scheme, but wanted to have the interests of the town made as safe as possible.

Dr. Lafferty asked that Mr. Davis, the town solicitor, who was an independent outlooker and knew all about what had been done, should explain the proceedings so far. This Mr. Davis did in a clear and concise manner.

Dr. Lafferty then asked the privilege of addressing the meeting for a few minutes. He reviewed the case in all the phases which presented themselves to his mind. He said he did not and would not accuse the Councillors who voted against the introduction of the by-law, of any improper motives; and conceded that they had acted in good conscience, but at the same time they had not acted in the interests of the ratepayers. He said he would move if he could get a second, that this meeting ask the Council to enter into the agreement with Mr. Prince re electric light at the next meeting. This was seconded by Mr. Reilly.

Councillor Murdoch spoke to the resolution.

Mr. Lucas thought if the new system proved a dangerous one and the old one was not dangerous, the people would take light from the old company, so we would be safe anyway.

His worship put the resolution by dividing the house, and it was carried by an overwhelming majority.

The meeting then adjourned.

STOCK.

Age for Castrating Colts.
A period between eighteen months and two years is generally preferred for horses, though according to authors, even a much later day may be chosen, some British veterinarians being accustomed to operate as early as ten days from birth. It is immaterial, however, at what precise time the operation may be performed, since it is a conceded point that the earlier it is done the better.

When it is possible to choose the season most favorable for the operation, and for securing the best chances for recovery, the spring or the early stage of the fall are those to which the operator should give the preference, provided the atmospheric temperature is moderate and not susceptible to sudden variations. It is to be remembered that at some periods of the year, without any known or apparent cause, a tendency appears in wounds to take on gangrenous or septicemic complications, which are not so generally observed in the mild weather of spring or early fall. Another essential condition which surgeons will do well to consider, is the general health of the subject, as in all cases of surgical interference any diseased tendency already existing (perhaps latent) in the patient, such as an anemic condition, a gummy predisposition, or typhoid susceptibility, are likely to give rise to the development of serious and perhaps fatal sequelae to the operation.

Chilian Riders.

The Gaucho or Guassos of Chili break their colts with the lasso; their skill in the use of this instrument is extraordinary, and it is a weapon of great power in their hands. In the war of the Independence they never failed to dismount cavalry with it or to throw down the horses of those who came within their reach. There is a well authenticated story of eight or ten Gauchos who had never seen a piece of artillery until one was fired at them in the streets of Buenos Ayres. Notwithstanding the fire they galloped fearlessly up to it, threw their lassos over the cannon and by their united strength fairly overturned it. The idea of being thrown, let the horse do what it likes, never enters the head of a Gaucho. A good rider, according to Sinn, is a man who can manage an untamed colt, or who, if his horse falls, alights unhurt on his own feet. Mr. Darwin says he heard a man betting that he could throw his horse down twenty times, and that nineteen out of these he would not fall himself. A Gaucho was seen riding a very stubborn horse, which three times reared so excessively high as to fall backwards with great violence. The man judged with uncommon coolness the proper moment for slipping off, not an instant before or after the right time. The Gaucho never appears to exert any muscular force. In Chili a horse is not considered broken until he is brought up standing in his fast speed.

To Tell the Age of Cattle.

A heifer has no rings on her horns until she is two years of age, and one is added each year thereafter. You can therefore tell the age of a cow with tolerable accuracy by counting the rings on her horns and adding two to the number.

The bull has no rings, as a rule, until he is five years old. To tell his age after that period add five to the number of rings. The best way to tell the age is by the teeth, which is of course the only way with polled cattle. What are called milk teeth generally appear in front. At the end of three years the second pair of permanent teeth are well grown, at four years the third pair, and at five the fourth and last pair have appeared, and at this time the central pair are full size. At seven years a dark line, caused by the wearing of the teeth, appears on all of them, and on the center pair a circular mark. At eight years this circular mark appears on all of them, and at nine years the center pair begins to shrink, and the third at eleven. After this period the age can only be determined by the degree of shrinkage generally. At fifteen years the teeth are nearly all gone.—Exchange.

Agricultural Education.

When the results which may be accomplished, and in many instances are accomplished, by trained men are taken into consideration, there can be no question of the value of special agricultural education to those who desire to qualify themselves for deriving the greatest profit from the products of the soil. The man whose practical farm training is supplemented by a scientific knowledge of everything with which he has to deal in growing crops or feeding stock is by that knowledge better equipped for his business than his neighbor who has enjoyed none of those advantages. This is demonstrable common sense, if such an expression may be used.

There is altogether too much of an inclination among agricultural people to sneer at the idea of education for farming, but we believe that this is largely owing to the scarcity of men industrially educated for the business. These school trained farmers are so few that when a failure is found among them—and such must be expected right here as well as in everything else—it creates a widespread but really groundless prejudice against the idea of agricultural college education in itself. This idea is certain to give way as knowledge of the facts of the case increases.

The people have had really no opportunity of knowing just what agricultural school training will accomplish. Though we have had 48 schools devoted primarily to agriculture, the usual curriculum includes so much else that many attend without any idea of inquiring into the underlying principles of farming. There are also about forty other institutions which are supposed to teach agriculture incidentally. It is estimated that in all these schools there are probably five thousand students preparing themselves especially for high class farming. There seems to be an impetus in this direction just now, and this total will no doubt be largely increased in the next few years, all of which points to a time when this kind of education will be regarded altogether differently by the public ten years hence, and we make this prediction without any hesitation whatever.—National Stockman and Farmer.

The Way to Make Pickles.

To make ripe cucumber sweet pickles by the gallon: Gather the cucumbers as soon as they turn yellow, for if allowed to lie more than a few days, they grow spongy and lifeless. Peel half lengthwise, and scrape free from seed and pulp. If large, halve again across the diameter and cut each quarter into inch wide, lengthwise strips. Put two quarts of sharp cider vinegar into a porcelain kettle and bring to a boil. Fill the vinegar with cucumbers and boil till the strips can be pierced with a straw, perhaps eight minutes. Skim the pickles into a jar, draining well before removing from the kettle. Again fill the hot vinegar with the ripe cucumber sections and so continue till the jar is full, adding more vinegar to the kettle, in which to cool them if necessary. For every three-gallon jar of cucumbers, allow one cup of mixed spices; ginger, cassia, cloves, allspice in equal proportions, and mustard and pepper in half quantity. Tie into a bag holding twice the bulk of this cupful, for spice swells much with boiling. When all the cucumbers have been cooked, throw out the liquor in the kettle and refill with two quarts of freshly drawn vinegar. Boil the spice bag in this half an hour, then add three heaping cups of sugar, and when dissolved, pour it over the pickles, crowding the spice bag into the centre of the jar, and slicing a handful of horse radish root over the pickles, to prevent gathering of mold.

Green tomato sweet pickle I make in the same way, except I let the sliced tomatoes lie twenty-four hours in a weak brine, made by sprinkling butter salt between layers of tomatoes before cooking them nearly half an hour in vinegar.—Clarissa Potter.

Mr. M. Dewdney's Movements.
After the minister had got through with the several deputations which waited on him on public matters, he was kept busy during the greater part of the afternoon with parties calling on private business. It was arranged that the citizens address should be presented to him in the waiting room of the C. P. R. station. By permission of Col. Hiercher the band of "E" Division, N. W. M. P. were present and played several airs in their usual fine style before and after the address and reply. At 9 p.m. a few gentlemen went up to Mr. Dewdney's car and escorted him to the C.P.R. waiting room where the mayor and council and many prominent citizens were waiting. A large number of people were also gathered on the platform of the station. His Worship then read the following ADDRESS.
To THE HON. E. DEWDENEY,
Minister of the Interior,
Supt. General of Indian Affairs.
DEAR SIR:—
The citizens of Calgary cannot let the occasion of your visit pass without renewing to you these hearty expressions of esteem and good will which your many visits here have enabled you to hear from them, not once, but frequently.
They congratulate you, sir, upon your appointment to the high office which you at present hold as Minister of the Interior and Superintendent-General of Indian Affairs, an appointment which, they may remind you with some pride, was one that they in common with the whole of the Northwest at that time unanimously endorsed, an endorsement which they hope was of some service to you at that stage of your political career.
They have found you, sir, in the past able and courteous in your administration of the affairs of the Northwest as its Lieutenant-Governor, and now in the larger administration which falls to your lot in capacity just mentioned—an administration which deals particularly with Northwest affairs—they find you, as always, courteous and affable to all, and, in your administration of Indian Affairs as thoroughly conversant and able as in the days of your Commissionership.
We hope, Sir, the best for the country from the continuance of your discharge of the duties of your two high offices, and pray that providence may give you sufficient health and strength to continue to discharge them, as faithfully in the future as in the past.
Take from us, Sir, to yourself and Mrs. Dewdney, the best wishes for a safe and pleasant trip, and the hope that we may, next year, have the pleasure of seeing you again amongst us, on which occasion we trust that your arrangements will allow a much longer stay.
Signed on behalf of the citizens,
D. W. MARSH,
Mayor.
Calgary, September 2nd, 1889.
REPLY.
Mr. Dewdney replied to the address in very felicitous terms. He said it affords me peculiar pleasure to receive the address which you, Mr. Mayor, have just presented me with, and I beg to thank you and the citizens whom you represent for the very kindly feelings which it expresses towards me. It is of more than ordinary interest to me, when I remember the active part the people of Calgary took in securing my appointment as a western man to the position which I now have the honor to hold. It is pleasing to me after a year of official life at Ottawa, to receive from the people of Calgary the assurance that I have succeeded in the discharge of my duties in such a manner as to meet with your approval. When the portfolio of the Interior was rendered vacant by the death of my esteemed friend the Hon. Thomas White, there was a general feeling expressed that as the Minister of the Interior would have more to do with the affairs of these great Territories than any other member of the Government, he should be a western man. Knowing this to be the case, Sir John Macdonald offered me the position. He met with considerable opposition in the east. There were many of his supporters who had spent a great part of their lives in the political service of the country who might have been considered entitled to the position, but opinion ran so high in the west that a western man should be appointed and the feeling having culminated at the public meeting in Calgary, Sir John decided to intrust me with the position. During this my first official trip since my appointment, through Manitoba and the Territories, I have met with nothing but the heartiest expressions of good will and approval. I have noticed that in Calgary, the extreme western city of the prairie country, there are evidences of substantial and steady progress, not equalled in any other place west of Winnipeg.
I am glad to learn especially from results of last year and this year's farming operations, that this country which was once looked upon as only a cattle country, has proved to be equal to any part of the Northwest as a grain and dairy country. I learned at the flourishing town of Moosewin, the other day, that they are finding a market in the mining districts of the mountains for their farm products, and if they can send their products from 800 or 700 miles east of here to the mountains, surely Calgary district, lying close to the mountains, can send their stuff there to better advantage.

Having had 25 years' experience as an engineer in building roads into the Columbia and Kootenay districts, I feel confident that there is no mining district in any of the Western States or Territories equal in wealth to our own mountains. Last year I sent Dr. Dawson, head of the geological survey, to make a report on this district, and his report was most satisfactory. One is now being taken out and sent away for testing with the most satisfactory results, and I venture to predict that within a very short time there will be 100,000 men employed in these mines, making a great market for your produce. This, with the market there must always be in British Columbia for your butter, cheese and beef, certainly places this district in a most enviable position. I have no hesitancy in saying that in a very few years this district will be as closely settled up with thrifty and prosperous farmers as any part of Canada. The honorable gentlemen then again thanked the Mayor and the citizens for their warm address which would be kept and valued by him. Three hearty cheers were then given for Mr. Dewdney and three still heartier cheers for Mrs. Dewdney. The Minister was then escorted to his car by a few friends. He left for the West by No. 1 express this morning.
Our Grain Exhibit.
The HERALD was favored with a call this morning from Mr. Hyslop, Supt. of C. P. R. experimental garden and farms. Mr. Hyslop is working up the agricultural exhibits to be sent west by the C. P. R. to Winnipeg fair. Mr. Hyslop says that the C.P.R. have decided to pursue a different course this year. Instead of sending the exhibit to Ontario shows, as they did last year, they intend to send their exhibit car through Dakota and Minnesota. This is a well conceived idea, but would it not be worth while for our agricultural society to try and make some arrangement to have an exhibit sent also to some of the principal fairs in Ontario, say Toronto, Hamilton, London and Guelph and others if practicable. Mr. Hyslop was shown the samples now being prepared by Mr. Fitzgerald for the exhibition car. He pronounced those he saw as equal to the best and better than most samples he had seen and this is his last place of calling. He further said that Calgary had nothing to fear from competition with any other exhibit.

Murder and Suicide.
CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—What will undoubtedly prove a murder and suicide occurred this afternoon. Elmer Hoffman, brakeman, cutting his wife's throat and then his own with a jack knife. Hoffman and his wife had a hard time to get along together and she has been compelled to support herself because of his extreme jealousy and ill treatment. Yesterday she had sworn out a warrant for his arrest for persecuting her, and this angered him to an extreme degree. Shortly after two o'clock this afternoon he paid his wife a visit. When Mrs. Hoffman learned of his presence she fled from the house. Hoffman gave chase and overtook her and cut her throat twice, inflicting severe and probable fatal injuries. Then he drew the knife across his own throat and died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Bitten by a Mad Wolf.
ALBUQUERQUE N. M., Aug. 31.—A Mexican boy who was bitten by a mad wolf in the San Dias mountains, died in great agony. The scene around the little fellows bed was heartrending, for he acted like a wolf, and though small, it took several men to hold him down. He and his brother were playing a few yards from the house when the wolf attacked them, lacerating their faces and hands, the younger boy, however, got the deeper wounds. A Mexican herder lassoed the wolf, throwing it to the ground, but having no knife, tightened the rope and strangled it to death. It is feared the other by will die.
A Bride in Treason.
DENVER, Col., Aug. 31.—A novel bridal tour is what a newly married couple are at the present time enjoying. Several months ago Charles Fish, a clerk in a San Francisco store, while attempting to board a ferry boat made a misstep and fell over some ropes into the arms of Mary Rathburn, daughter of a retired merchant. With an apology the young man departed. A few nights afterward the pair met at a party, and from that time on a friendship sprang up between the two. Finding that the girl's parents were opposed to the match, the couple a few weeks later eloped and were married at Sacramento. The young man having only $33, told his wife if they could manage to reach New York all would be well, as he had some wealthy relatives there. This proved satisfactory. The girl took off her dress and adorned herself in male attire. Their adventures since this have been numerous. From Sacramento the pair beat their way by riding on freight trains and on the trucks of passenger coaches. A week ago Ogden was reached and being desirous to see some Colorado's scenery, the Rio Grande was selected. After having been put off a half dozen trains, the couple reached Denver Saturday morning. As it happened the Union Pacific ran a grand army excursion train out Saturday night and by strategy the couple managed to go on the train in the capacity of porters. It is more than probable that the pair will get through to Chicago, reaching New York next month. The girl is extremely pretty and scarcely 19, while her husband is three years her senior.

A Big Fire.
HELENA, Sept. 2.—Those who have never travelled over the section of country known as the Northwest can have no idea of the vast area which prairie and timber fires have covered, starting away up in British Columbia in the Kootenay country weeks ago, owing to the parched condition of the country. No rain of any consequence having fallen for ninety days. The fire travelled with great rapidity, passing south through Montana into Idaho extending into Washington and Oregon on the west, then south again into Wyoming and Colorado.
Burned to Death in Montana.
GREAT FALLS, Mont., Sept. 3.—The town of Barker was almost wholly destroyed yesterday by a fire which started in a miner's camp and swept up the valley burning all the eastern portion of the camp. It is supposed that a man named Ellis, his wife and four children have lost their lives. There are also three men missing and they are undoubtedly burned to death.

Waterloo Excursionists.

The party of excursionists whom we mentioned as having arrived from Waterloo, Ont., last Sunday morning, have made an examination of a part of the country round Calgary, and have gone up to Banff to see the wonders of the mountain scenery at the National Park, before returning to the level lands of their own country. What interests the people of Calgary is that most in connection with their visit is what they thought of the capabilities of the country as a farming and dairying district. Having been courteously treated and no effort spared on the part of the excursionists' reception committee to facilitate their obtaining information, they felt it due to the community to make public their views about the place and the people. Consequently on the evening of their departure they came to the Herald office and asked us to make public their ideas about what they had seen in and around Calgary.

After some general remarks in reference to the interest Mr. John Ingram, proprietor of the Palace Hotel, where they had stopped had taken in their comfort and bringing them into contact with the parties here to get information from Mr. Hallman says. When we drove out from Calgary we went first to the farm of Mr. H. D. Graves a few miles from Calgary to the south. Though we had heard, said Mr. Hallman, a good deal about the country, we were not prepared to see such a magnificent crop of wheat, oats, barley and roots as Mr. Graves has this year on his comparatively new farm, which we think cannot be beat in any country. We judge the oat crop at 50 bushels to the acre by measure, which would give 75 bushels to the acre by weight. The barley was also very plump, full and bright and is a very heavy crop, and as for the wheat, it is as fine as we ever saw, being far ahead of anything that can be raised in Ontario at the present time. It will certainly yield 35 bushels to the acre. Mr. Graves gave us some interesting information about his dairying operations. Leaving Mr. Graves' we next went to the Glenn farm now worked by Mr. Shaver. At this farm we also found that although the season has been the driest known here in the past, the crops are excellent and we have no hesitation in saying that if the season had been as moist as it is reported to be generally, the crop would be equal to anything the world can produce, and is now ahead of anything we saw in the eastern part of the Territories.

On Mr. James Bannerman's farm we saw splendid oats. Mr. Bannerman sowed some fall wheat last Autumn out on account of the dryness of the fall it did not sprout, it having been sown too late to get the necessary moisture. But it is our opinion that as a rule fall wheat can be successfully grown here.

At Mr. Shaw's farm at Midnapore we found a splendid lot of crops, good enough to satisfy any one of the richness of the soil and the goodness of the climate.

On our way we also visited the farm of Mr. Samuel Livingstone, on the Elbow river, and here again we saw really marvelous crops, as well as at many other places of which we did not have any memorandum.

We visited Mr. Robinson's Elbow river park dairy farm, 4 miles from Calgary, where we found a complete cheese factory plant in working order and all the appliances for butter making on a large scale, which are being successfully operated.

In reference to the town of Calgary itself, we were astonished to find such a place with such solid buildings and so much business doing and feel sure there must be a large amount of wealth already in the country to keep it up. We beg through your paper to offer Mr. James Bannerman our best thanks for the kind manner in which he entertained us at his farm house and showed us about the country.

We would recommend our Ontario farmer friends who may be coming west, not to fail to come to Calgary and see the country about it, and when they do come to Calgary to go to the "Palace Hotel" where they will find every comfort and Mr. Ingram's genial manner will make their stay as pleasant as if they were at home. We have this to say about the Calgary district: "Wherever there was good farming there were good crops as a result."

We hope that you will publish these few things that we have told you about our visit, so we can distribute the papers through our part of Ontario, as the people there have very little idea of this part of the west, and we would like also if you would send it to some leading paper in Toronto, so that this country may become better known in Ontario.

The New Race Track

The Directors of the Agricultural Society have taken the work off the hands of the contractor, he having completed his job some few days ago. The society have a gang of men and teams on now surmounting and rolling the track preparatory for the turf meeting on the 9th and 10th Sept. The judges stand and grand stand are nearing completion. The gates of the grounds are now left open and the public are invited to inspect the track.

Our Grain Exhibit.

A HERALD reporter paid a visit to the Calgary Agricultural car No. 15168 late last night. Mr. Fitzgerald and his assistants had about completed the arrangement of grain, vegetables, and grasses in position to be seen without disturbing them on their arrival at Winnipeg. It would be very difficult and would take a good deal of space to attempt a description of the various samples of farm produce contained in the car. But of this we are sure, if Calgary gets fair play she will stand at the head of the class this year again over the rest of the Territories and Manitoba. But if by any miscarriage of justice we should not get the first prize, the effect of sending such a car of samples to the east must have a most beneficial effect on the future of Calgary District. There is one point that every one who sees the Calgary samples should know, and all farmers will notice, that is that the sheaves are not hand picked grain but taken from the reaper. The car left for Winnipeg this morning.

Mr. Holt at Prince Albert.

Prince Albert Saskatchewan: Mr. F. H. Holt, of Messrs. Ross, Mann & Holt, who have the contract to build the Regina and Long Lake railway to Prince Albert, was in town on Wednesday. He was accompanied by Mr. Dodds, of the C. P. R. land department. Mr. Holt came directly over the prairie from Regina, by way of Saskatoon and Duck Lake. He said "that he was greatly surprised to see such excellent crops in this district," and "that neither in Manitoba nor the Northwest did he see crops to equal those in this district, except at Portage la Prairie." The Portage Plains have long been known as the Garden of Manitoba, and it is becoming more and more evident every year that this district is the Garden of the Northwest. He also said that the surveyors were at work locating the line and that the road would be pushed with all speed possible. His object in coming out was to take a run over the proposed routes and see which would be the most easily built. It is expected that fifty or sixty miles of the road will be built this season, and the remainder pushed through to Prince Albert next year. Mr. Holt intends returning to Prince Albert in about four weeks.

A Serious Accident.

Mr. Robert Forrester, who has been employed for several years in Mr. W. H. Cushing's sash and door factory, Calgary, met with a very bad accident this morning while at work. Mr. Forrester has been in the habit of running the tennon machine, no one else having anything to do with the working of it, as a usual thing but himself. This morning, about 7:30 o'clock, he had just got through with what he was doing and threw the belt off to stop the machine, but through the momentum of speed at which it was running, the revolving knives did not stop at once. Mr. Forrester evidently through forgetting the fact for the moment, which he well understood, that the knives do not stop at once, appears to have attempted to remove some shavings from the head of the machine and allowed his left hand to come in contact with the revolving knives still in motion. Quicker than thought his hand was drawn in between the blades, which are placed at a distance of just 3/8ths of an inch apart. The consequence was that like a flash, the thumb and two fingers of the left hand were cut to shreds and the hand otherwise fearfully lacerated. As soon as the accident happened, the young man was taken to the house of Mr. Jarrett and doctors Lindsay and Rouleau called in, who immediately dressed the hand. He was shortly after removed to the house of W. H. Cushing, proprietor of the factory, where he is being kindly cared for. The unfortunate young man is single and is believed about 28 years of age, of steady habits and is well known and respected in town. His mother and brothers have a ranch or farm only a short distance from Calgary.

"Bridget what caused that noise I heard in the kitchen last night?"

"Faith man I don't know, unless it was the drop of Patrick's countenance when I refused him a kiss at parting!"
